

Wineries of Canada's most southerly land - Pelee Island

Private postcard from Pelee Island Wine and Vineyards 1901 regarding a salesman call to a Cobourg, Ont. customer.

Mint Wine Stamps issued 2006

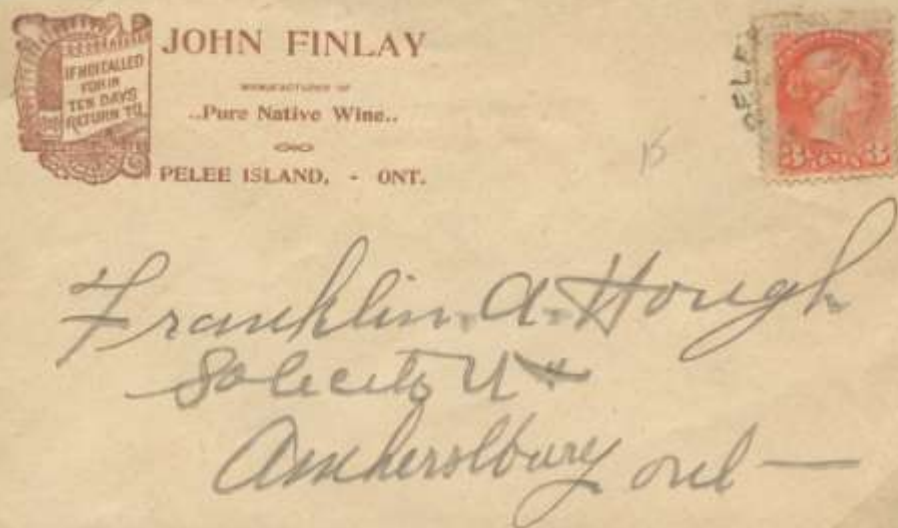

Pelee Island is the most southerly inhabited land in Canada. Canada's first commercial winery Vin Villa was started there in 1866 and up to 6 wineries were on the island through WW1. Pelee Island Wine and Vineyards was in business from 1890 to 1917. High valued tobacco crops took over the vineyards after WW1. Pelee Island Winery started in 1979 is now the only remaining winery on the island.
