

CANADIAN MAIL THE POST OFFICE AND COVID-19

COVID-19 disrupted not only life styles in Canada but the Post Office in many ways. Early in March 2020 all guarantees of mail delivery was suspended. The request for signatures for items on receipt of the item was abolished on all but Registered Mail. Mail to a number of countries was totally abolished or certain types of mail and/or parcels were restricted. These regulations changed multiple times These restricted items were supposed to be eventually returned to the sender, with a label which we show. Sometimes this took 6 months to arrive back to the sender or never at all. The volume of parcels increased dramatically as people shopped on line. Some mail processing plants were closed for a period of time because of Covid-19 within the plant. For instance, sometime in April 2020 the Calgary sorting plant shut down for 2 weeks. A package sent to me from Edmonton was sent to Calgary then forwarded to Toronto and returned to Southern Alberta. Letters and parcel delivery became erratic with items taking 3 days to 6 weeks to cover the same territory.

This letter sent by a friend in my name (Dr. Earle), had the label removed which was shown on the previous page.

The next pages show Canada Post's gift to employees.

Dear colleagues,

For the past several months, we've been thinking a lot about what we could possibly do to express our gratitude and appreciation for what each of you have done during this COVID-19 crisis.

We wanted to thank you in a way that's unique to Canada Post, a way that recognizes your contribution to the country and this unprecedented moment in history.

So we created a special stamp, just for our employees.

The illustration showcases one of our iconic trucks and a rainbow. The truck represents every employee and your service to Canadians. When the crisis first hit, in every community, the trucks were a consistent, familiar and comforting presence at a time when nothing else was.

During the crisis, the rainbow has become a global icon of solidarity, hope and strength. It reflects all that you inspired and exemplified during this difficult time.

Together, the truck and the rainbow stand for everything you achieved.

We also took the image of the stamp and created a hand-painted enamel pin. I hope you wear it with pride as a reminder of your service when the country needed you.

Each of you has earned this recognition.

From the start of the COVID-19 crisis, every one of you continued to come to work with one goal – to serve Canadians. They see that and are truly appreciative. So when you receive your gift, I hope you'll reflect on the significant and important contributions you've made, and that you continue to make every day.

Thank you!

Doug

Canada Post President Doug Ettinger honours Employees for their work during the Covid-19 Pandemic.

Employees received a gift of 2 Picture Postage booklets and a pin, designed by Andrew Lewis for their work during the COVID-19 Pandemic. 12 trucks were painted with the special design.

Dear Colleague:

Canada Post's iconic stamp program is known for celebrating incredible national achievements.

When the global pandemic disrupted everyday life, we were there for our fellow Canadians. We put the safety of each other and our customers first. We provided an essential service and much-needed hope by doing what we do best.

To recognize your efforts and the appreciation of Canadians, we asked a noted designer to develop this special stamp and pin, for employees only.

I hope it instills a sense of pride and serves as a reminder of what we can accomplish when we all pull together.

With my sincere thanks,

Doug

Bonjour à vous,

Le programme des timbres-poste de Postes Canada est reconnu pour souligner les grandes réalisations nationales.

Lorsque la pandémie a bousculé le quotidien des Canadiens, nous avons été là pour eux. En veillant d'abord à la sécurité de tous, nous avons su fournir un service essentiel et apporter de l'espoir à bien des gens.

En gage de reconnaissance pour vos efforts, nous avons demandé à un graphiste de renom de créer ce timbre et cette épinglette tout spécialement pour les employés.

J'espère que vous y trouverez une source de fierté et un rappel de ce que nous pouvons accomplir tous ensemble.

Avec mes sincères remerciements,

Doug

Canada Post sends every household a free, prepaid postcard

Recipients can mail it for free to anyone they choose, anywhere in the country

While we keep our distance to fight the spread of COVID-19, staying connected with friends and loved ones is harder than ever. To help Canadians stay in touch now, when it matters so much, Canada Post will deliver approximately 13.5 million postcards, one to every residential address in the country.

There are six versions of the postcard, each one offering a simple message of love, appreciation or thanks. Every household will receive one randomly selected postcard. Recipients can send their postcard to anyone they want, anywhere in Canada, for free. No stamps are needed. Postcards can be mailed through any street letter box or community mailbox, or taken to a post office.

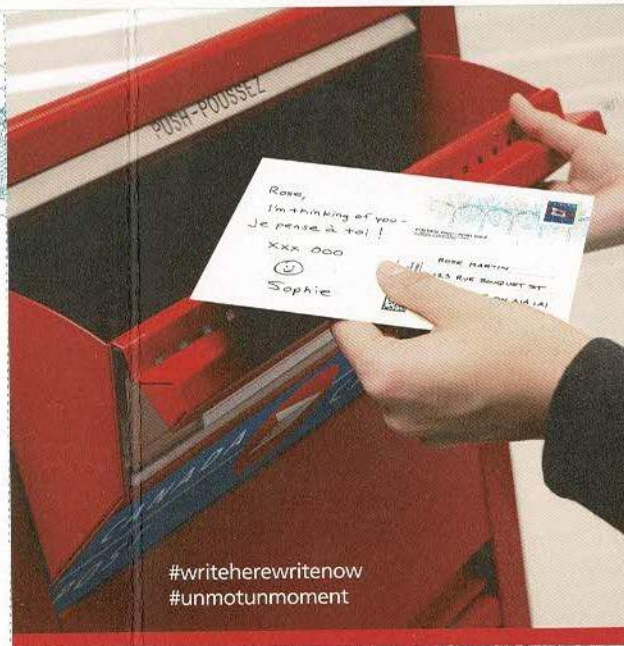

"Meaningful connection is vital for our emotional health, sense of community and overall well-being," says Doug Ettinger, President and CEO of Canada Post. "Canada Post wants everyone to stay safe, but also stay in touch with the people who matter to them." The postcards are part of the "Write Here Write Now" program, launched in September 2020 to encourage Canadians to use letter writing to connect in a heartfelt way.

The coronavirus (COVID-19) situation is evolving and the health of our employees, customers and visitors is a priority.

Please do not enter this building if:

- You have traveled outside Canada, including to the U.S., within the past 14 days
- You have come in contact with someone who has COVID-19
- You have a fever, cough or difficulty breathing
- The building is crowded, please wait outside until there's more room

We appreciate you using non-contact payment methods

Anxiety is understandably high at this time. By treating each other with respect and concern, we are all better off.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Please help us help you

The coronavirus (COVID-19) situation is evolving. The health and safety of our employees and customers remains our top priority.

Our employees are working hard to serve Canadians.

You can help:

- Practice good social distancing – keep at least two metres between yourself and others, including our employees
- If the building is crowded, please wait outside until there's more room inside
- Please respect our employees – they're working hard to serve you as quickly as possible

These are challenging times. By treating each other with respect and concern, we are all better off.

Thank you for your cooperation.

COVID-19

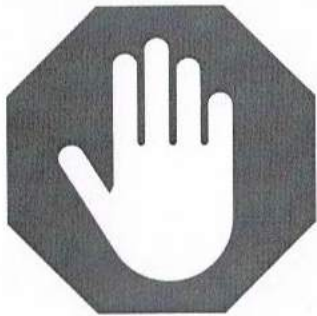

Have you travelled outside Canada within the last 14 days?

Have you been in close contact with a confirmed or probable case of COVID-19?

Do you have a fever, or cough, runny nose, sore throat or shortness of breath?

If you answered YES to ANY of the above,

STOP and do not enter this site.

As the Public Health Agency of Canada advises, please contact a physician or public health authority (call 811) and describe your symptoms and travel history. Follow the instructions and advise your team leader by phone.

If you answered NO to ALL of the above:

You are free to enter.

Please wash your hands with soap and water frequently.

If you're exhibiting any symptoms of COVID-19 (coronavirus), such as fever or a cough, please arrange for someone else to come into this facility on your behalf.

While you're here, protect yourself and others:

- Avoid touching your mouth, nose or eyes
- Cough or sneeze into your arm
- Avoid close contact – don't lean over the counters
- Use digital payment options if possible
- Maintain space between yourself and others
